

“NAMYATS”

The benefit of NAMYATS (“Stayman” spelled in reverse) is to differentiate between a strong distributional hand (based upon losing trick count, strength, and distribution), which may provide a Slam opportunity with less Opponent interference, and a pre-emptive bid which has no Slam opportunity. NAMYATS is an artificial convention which employs an opening bid of “4C” or “4D” used to signify a good hand with 7(+) cards in length in Hearts or Spades, respectively. Opener's hand should hold 8 or 8 1/2 playing tricks with good honors in the Major suit, usually accompanied by an outside Ace or King. Conversely, an opening bid of 4H or 4S shows a weak pre-emptive hand not meeting these criteria, and is purely defensive.

Before deciding to open with the NAMYATS convention, it is of the utmost importance that the Opener recognizes the quality and shape of the hand and distinguishes between a pre-emptive opening and a NAMYATS opening. The following two examples should clarify this point.

Hand 1

♥ AQJ98643
♦ 75
♣ 93

4 ♥: Pre-empt in Hearts

Hand 2

♠ 4
♥ AKQJ9864
♦ 7
♣ AJ3

4 ♣: NAMYATS for Hearts

The difference in the bidding between a normal Pre-empt and a NAMYATS Pre-empt Transfer is the quality of the long suit in addition to the number of Losing Tricks. With Hand 1, the correct procedure would be to open 4 Hearts since the quality of the holding is less superior to Hand 2, and because the holding contains at least six losers. The general consensus is that to invoke NAMYATS, the holding should contain no more than five Losing Tricks. Since Hand 2 is stronger in the long suit and contains only four Losing Tricks, and to give Partner a better informative description of the winning trick ability of the hand, the Opener would bid 4 Clubs, transferring his partner to Hearts. Even if the Partner has already passed, he still may have 2 Aces, or 1 Ace and the King of Clubs, which would put the partnership in slam territory.

The decision can be made by the Partner to let the NAMYATS bidder to become Declarer. The Partner simply bids the next higher ranking suit to indicate that he has no slam interest, and that he would rather that the NAMYATS bidder become Declarer. If, on the other hand, the Partner has reasons to believe that it would be better for him to become Declarer, and he has no slam interest, then he simply bids the suit indicated. If the Partner has a tenace to protect, or a King small in one or more of the side suits, it would be preferable if the Partner became Declarer.

As a defense against the NAMYATS convention, most Partnership understandings are that:
A direct double of the NAMYATS bid is natural - A Take-Out for the other Major; and a delayed double of the final contract is for penalty.
